

Deirdre Walsh's Paintings

Deirdre Walsh is a well-known artist living in Partry who has produced wonderful impressionist paintings of Lough Carra. Her work reflects the beauty of the lough and its surroundings and conveys the atmosphere of the place with its subtle colours that change with the ever-changing light. She says:

“I try to record the nuances of colour brought about by changing light. The light is often elusive and difficult to chase but leaves me in awe with each attempt to capture it”.
