

Talk on water quality of Lough Carra to Carnacon National School

On Friday 12 April 2013, Chris Huxley gave a talk to the students of Carnacon National School on the water quality and aquatic life of Lough Carra.

The school is currently working towards achieving the Green Schools Flag under the Water Theme. The talk was organised by the Principal, Dympna Byrne, as one of their awareness raising activities. Laura Heneghan from Green Schools was also present for the talk.
