Email news from LCCA 8 March 2022

Dear Friends of Lough Carra,

I'd just like to give you advance notice that our first public meeting of the year will be held on the evening of Tuesday 22 March in one of the community centres in the Lough Carra Catchment. I will email you the week before with confirmation of location and the starting time.

In addition to updating you on LCCA news, we plan to have two short presentations at the meeting. One talk will be by NPWS (National Parks and Wildlife Service) outlining the work they are doing as an associated beneficiary of the Carra LIFE Project. The second talk will be by GSI on the vulnerability of groundwater.

In the meantime I'd like to inform you of two free on-line events that may be of interest to you:

1) The Irish Wildlife Trust are hosting an on-line talk on Wednesday the 9th of March about the Wild Atlantic LIFE Project which started in 2021. The talk will be given by the Project Manager Derek McLoughlin. The link to register for this talk is https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_VqVlfjMjTLKINr7n7VkB6g

2) The Rivers Trust is hosting an on-line conference on 15th and 16th March 'Springing into Action'.
